

ATTORNEY GENERAL TO RULE ON RIGHT

QUESTION OF WILSON'S POWER TO ARM SHIPS REFERRED TO GREGORY.

MAY PREVENT FILIBUSTERS

Senate Democratic Caucus to Meet To morrow to Discuss Closure
Rule.

(Associated Press)
Washington, Mich. 5.—The president has referred to his legal advisors his doubts of his power to arm American merchant ships. In the absence of any direct authority from congress some decision is expected from the attorney general within 24 hours.

To Prevent Filibuster.
A meeting of the democratic senate caucus has been called for tomorrow morning at which time one of the subjects to be discussed will be a fight for a cloture rule which will prevent filibusters by a few senators, such as killed the armed neutrality bill yesterday.

Washington, Mar. 5.—In a formal statement from the White House, President Wilson declared that the failure of congress to give him authority to arm American ships and protect American rights at sea had practically blocked all his plans in this direction. The President bitterly deplored the fact that a small group of senators had blocked the passage of the authorization bill and asserted that old, unrepented statutes practically nullified the powers which he thought he could exercise in this direction under the constitution. The President asserted that an extra session of congress would be futile because the same senators could again hold up the legislation.

In the immediate presence of a crisis fraught with more far-reaching possibilities of national danger than any other, the government has known within the whole history of its international relations, the congress has been unable to act either to safeguard the country or vindicate the elementary rights of its citizens.

A little group of willful men representing no opinion but their own, have rendered the great government of the United States helpless and contemptible.

Although the nation and the representatives of the nation stand back of the executive with unprecedented unanimity and spirit the impression made abroad will of course be that it is not so and that other governments may act as they please without fear that this government can do anything at all.

The only remedy is that the rules of the senate shall be so altered that the senate can act. The senate can be relied upon to supply the means of action and save the country from disaster.

Will Amend Senate Rules.
Washington, Mar. 5.—The filibuster which killed the President's bill to arm American ships will result in a revolution in senate procedure.

Senator Robert L. Owen started the fight, which will have the backing of the administration, to limit debate. This revolutionary plan already has powerful support as is evidenced in the following agreement:

"The undersigned hereby mutually covenant and agree to co-operate with each other in compelling such changes in the rules of the senate as to terminate successful filibustering to enable the majority to fix an hour for disposing of any bill or question subject to the rules of an hour to each senator for discussion before or after the hour is fixed. This agreement to go into effect March 6, 1917.

STONE SPILLS U. S. SECRETS IN SENATE

Naval Officers Highly Incensed
at Missourian's Act.

Washington, Mar. 5.—Naval officers and administration officials are incensed at Senator Stone's disclosure in the senate debate that the navy had planned equipping merchant ships with light, swift submarine chasers to guard them against submarines in the prohibited zone.

They regarded it as fortunate that more of the plans had not been disclosed in the heat of the senator's opposition to the armed neutrality bill, but were chagrined that so much had been said, especially in view of the fact that the senate only recently, at the request of the military departments, passed a bill making it a crime to publish the government's secrets.

BOY SCOUTS SIGNAL CORPS HAD PRACTICE

IN CONNECTION WITH MIKE SATURDAY—COOKED OWNS DINNERS.

(By J. Heinze, Scribe)

The Boy Scouts of troop 3 had the time of their lives Saturday when they took a hike to the woods northwest of town. The troop met at the "Y," starting from there about 11 o'clock, and reaching the woods about noon.

Every scout had to build his own fire, over which he cooked his dinner; the fire was to be made with not more than two matches. Soon the woods was full of the delicious smell of wienies coffee, steak and potatoes, which were soon devoured. After dinner our amateur wireless operator, Lester Shepherd, put up his portable wireless outfit and caught a few messages while Asst. Scout Master Raymond Worsley showed how to wigwag. After this Scout Master Harry Major suggested that we do some tracking, so three of us went out while the rest tracked. About 4 o'clock we started for home, wigwagging on the way, and arrived at 5:30. This was the first hike for the troop and everyone enjoyed it very much, hoping we have another one soon.

NAMED INHERITANCE ATTORNEY

Attorney Harry Warner Given Important Position in District.

Attorney Harry C. Warner has received notification from Attorney General Brundage of his appointment as Inheritance Tax Attorney for the 15th Judicial District, which comprises Stephenson, Ogle, Jo Daviess, Lee and Carroll counties. The appointment to this important position will not interfere with Mr. Warner's activities in this city, as most of the hearings will be held in Dixon. His many friends will unite in extending congratulations.

Atty. Warner, who is chairman of the Lee County Republican Committee and has been very active in republican politics during recent years, accomplishing big results for his party, has made no effort to secure this appointment and the appointment was made entirely through the efforts of his friends in this territory who wished to secure him the deserved recognition, and because of merit.

WILSON METHODICAL; GREAT TIME SAVER

OLDEST ATTACHES OF WHITE HOUSE COMMENT ON PRESIDENT'S SYSTEM.

WANTS DIRECTNESS OF ACTION

Because of This He Has Broken Many Precedents, But Upholds
Respect.

Washington, Mich. 5.—Oldest attaches of the White House regard President Wilson as the most methodical, systematic, time saving chief executive within their memories.

From the very first of his administration, the Mexican difficulties and the European war have added immeasurably to the duties of the president, but he has managed to maintain a strict schedule for his working hours; he never has been known because of personal fault to be late in an engagement, and has religiously conserved his time.

A White House caller, booked for a five minute interview with many a president, often got an hour. If one arranges a five minute interview with Mr. Wilson one gets exactly five minutes, no more, and the way is cleared for the next caller.

Although during his first administration the president took no real vacation, he managed to maintain a regular program of physical recreation necessary to his health. He never has been out of touch with the nation's business. When at the summer house at Cornish, N. H., or Long Branch, N. J., a staff of secretaries was close at hand. All during his first term the president was not away from the White House more than two weeks at a time on trips traveling about the country, and he never has gone further west than Topeka Kas.

Friends of Mr. Wilson say he dislikes the idea of going into the country, but enjoys himself when he does go.

Many word pictures of the president at work and at play have been written, but those closest to him say that his every day life is a natural one for a man who never has been wealthy and has grown up in an atmosphere of regularity and natural living.

Mr. Wilson does many things personally that could easily be done for him by others. Frequently he walks from the executive offices to the White House to get a book or letter, when he could more easily press a button and have someone bring it to him. His liking for directness of action explains why on more than one occasion he has walked to different government departments to see cabinet members instead of summoning them to the White House. He has never allowed precedent to interfere with the course he thought the most direct.

The time the president's working day begins depends upon the season of the year. Ordinarily he gets up between 7 and 7:30 o'clock, but in summer he usually arises earlier—sometimes at 5 or 5:30. He believes in daylight saving whenever it is possible.

When he first came to the White House he attended to most of his official work in the morning, and played golf in the afternoon, but this winter he reversed his program and played golf in the warm morning hours, and worked in the afternoon. He goes golfing either with Mrs. Wilson or

Mrs. Welty was born in Ohio Dec. 27, 1832, and resided in that section of the country the greater part of her life, coming here a few years ago to reside with her daughter. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Mon, two brothers, one sister, five grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

STERLING FIRES OF INTEREST HERE

The home of Mrs. Charles Sturtz of Sterling, mother of Mrs. Herman Baughman of this city, was threatened with destruction by fire Sunday afternoon when sparks from the chimney set fire to the roof. The firemen, however, extinguished the blaze before serious damage resulted. The fire was the second of the day for the firemen, the first being in the morning when a large frame house on 8th street, formerly occupied by John H. Kilday, a former Dixon man, was almost totally destroyed.

SOCIETY CARES FOR 33 LEE CO. KIDDIES

ILLINOIS CHILDREN'S HOME &
AID SOCIETY OF BENEFIT TO DIXON.

REPRESENTATIVE IS IN CITY

Rev. H. W. Thiele of Galesburg is here this week on his annual visit in the interest of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, of which Mr. R. H. Bennett, father of Mrs. M. H. Vail, is president. Thirty-three children from Lee county are now being cared for by the society, 23 of the number being from Dixon.

Last year more than 3000 children from all over the state were helped in one way or another. A few months ago the Whitehall orphanage failed and turned over the children in their care, about 350, to the Children's Home and Aid Society, giving that organization more than 2000 youngsters to look after.

Five departments are maintained by this society; receiving homes at Evanston and Duquoin, an industrial school at Potomac, a home for crippled and disabled children at Maywood, a big brother league to save boys and girls of the streets and an aid department to help dependent parents.

The sum of $51.70 will insure proper care for one child for a year. This society has no endowment and receives no aid from the state, but is dependent upon voluntary contributions.

It has the endorsement of Chicago Association of Commerce, the State Board of Administration and the churches of Dixon. Rev. Thiele has arranged with the Dixon National and Union State banks to receive contributions from Lee county friends, and those who cannot call at the banks, but who wish to aid in the work, may send their contributions to Mr. Thiele at his home, 445 N. Cedar, Galesburg, Ill., to H. A. Humsey, 209 S. State St., Chicago. Mr. Thiele announces the society is in especial need of help at present.

LUTHERANS VOTED FOR CHURCH REPAIR

PLANS FOR BEAUTIFYING
EDICE ADOPTED BY MEMBERS SUNDAY.

Plans for the improvements of St. Paul's Lutheran church were submitted to the members of the congregation following the morning service Sunday and were unanimously approved by the membership. The next step in the campaign to transform the edifice into one of the most beautiful in the city will be the raising of funds for the work, for it is understood the contracts for the work will not be let until at least two-thirds of the cost of the improvements has been subscribed.

The plans provide that the exterior shall be given a coat of stucco finish, the wood shall be repainted, spires shall be razed, and other minor alterations made in the exterior appearance. Nothing has been done toward arranging for the improvement for the interior of the church, but it is thought the ladies' organizations will take that feature in hand during the spring and arrange for changes.

Kolb is said to have confessed to a conspiracy to "blow up the president" and to have told detectives he participated in the explosions at Block Island in New York harbor, which cost several lives and a million dollars damage. He was arrested in a hotel opposite the pier where German steamships are tied.

WILSON ASKS UNITY OF ALL WHO LOVE LIBERTY JUSTICE, RIGHT EXALTED

IN HIS INAUGURAL ADDRESS TODAY PRESIDENT SAYS IF WE ARE TRUE TO OURSELVES SHADOWS WHICH NOW LIE DARK UPON OUR PATH WILL BE DISPELLED AND WE SHALL WALK WITH LIGHT ALL ABOUT US—PLEADS FOR UNION OF AMERICA IN FEELING, PURPOSE, VISION OF DUTY, OPPORTUNITY AND PURPOSE—TAKE HEED THAT GOVERNMENT IS KEPT PURE—BEWARE OF FACTIONS WHICH BREAK HARMONY AND EMBARRASS SPIRIT OF OUR PEOPLE.

TELLS WORLD WHAT U. S. STANDS FOR

(Associated Press)

Washington, Mich. 5.—With the conservation of himself to the nation's service, President Wilson in his inaugural address, touching the international crisis, declared there could now be no turning back from the tragic events of the last thirty months which have brought upon Americans a new responsibility as citizens of the world.

He declared that a new America must stand for peace stability of the free peoples, national equality in matters of right; the seas must be free to all; that the family of nations shall not support any governments not derived from the consent of the governed.

"We stand in armed neutrality," he said. He warned the nation against any faction or intrigue to break the harmony or embarrass the spirit of the American people, and he called for a united America.

Vice President Marshall took his oath at 12:03 o'clock and immediately delivered his inaugural address. The president took the oath of office publicly at 12:45 o'clock and soon launched into his address. He said:

"Fellow Countrymen—The four years which have elapsed since last I stood in this place have been crowded with counsel and action most vital in interest and consequences. Perhaps no equal period in our history has been so fruitful of important reforms in our economic industrial life, or so full of significant changes in the spirit and purpose of our political action.

WE STAND FIRM IN OUR NEUTRALITY
We stand firm in our neutrality and we may even be drawn on by circumstances, not by our own purpose or desire, to a more active assertion of our rights, as we see them, and a more immediate association with the great struggle itself.

But nothing will alter our thought or purpose. They are too clear to be obscured. We desire neither conquest nor advantage. We shall be the more American if we remain true to the principles in which we have been bred.

ALL NATIONS ARE EQUAL IN PEACE INTEREST
These, therefore, are the things for which we shall stand:

That all nations are equally interested in peace of the world; and political stability of the free people, all equally responsible for their maintenance.

That the essential of peace is the actual equality of nations in all matters of right or privilege;

That peace can not securely or justly rest upon an armed balance of power;

That governments derive all their just powers from the consent of the governed;

That the seas shall be equally free and safe for all peoples;

That national armament should be limited to the necessities of national order and domestic safety;

That community interest and power, upon which peace must henceforth depend, imposes upon each nation the duty of seeing to it that all influences proceeding from its own citizens

Jews Will Commemorate Deliverance From Haman's Power At Feast

Purim, which this year will be celebrated Thursday, March 8th, beginning, however, on Wednesday evening the 7th, is one of the minor holidays of the Jewish calendar. It commemorates the deliverance of the Jews of Persia from the power of Haman, the vizier of King Ashazuerus. Haman had cast lots (hence the name "Purim" which means "lots") to determine which month was to be set for the massacre of all the Jews in Persia. Mordecai and his niece Esther becoming aware of the plot succeeded in depositing Haman and in obtaining royal permission for the Jews to attack and master their enemies on the 13th and 14th of Adar. The deliverance of the Jews from the threat of annihilation and their victory over their enemies have ever after been celebrated as the Feast of Purim.

YOU'RE BILIOUS! LET "CASCARETS" LIVE IN LIVER AND BOWELS

Best for liver and bowels, bad breath, bad colds, sour stomach.

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing sick headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet, and your liver and bowels regular for months.

GETTING RID OF ANTS

Simple Methods of Freeing the House from These Common Pests.

As long as household conditions are such as to attract ants, measures for getting rid of the insects will be of little value. Says a new publication of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Farmers' Bulletin 740, by C. L. Marshall. The first step in freeing a house from these pests is therefore to clean up all food that may be scattered about and to keep food supplies which may attract ants in antproof metal containers, or in iceboxes. Cake bread, sugar, meat, and similar substances are especially likely to attract the insects.

The use of baits is not recommended in the bulletin already mentioned because of the danger that these will serve merely to draw more insects into the house and thus actually to increase the nuisance. Where it can be safely used, however, a sirup poisoned with arsenate of soda has been found effective. The formula for this sirup is one pound of sugar dissolved in a quart of water to which should be added 125 grains of soda. This mixture is boiled and strained and on cooling is used to saturate sponges which are placed where they can be reached easily by the ants. The insects collect the sirup and convey it to their nests, so that the whole colony is ultimately poisoned. Although this method has been found effective, as has been said, it should be remembered that the arsenate of soda is poisonous to human beings and to animals as well as to ants and that its use must be safeguarded by the greatest precautions.

When the ants can be traced back to their nests and these are in accessible places, it is possible to destroy the colonies by injecting with an oil can or small syringe a little bisulphide of carbon, kerosene or gasoline into the nests. All these substances, however, are inflammable and precautions must be taken, therefore, against the danger of fire.

Though the common garden or lawn ants which build their little crater nests around houses are distinct species from the true house ants, they may find their way into the house. Their colonies may be destroyed by drenching the nests with boiling water or injecting a small quantity of kerosene or coal oil into them. Where larger areas are affected it is sometimes advisable to spray the lawns with kerosene emulsion or with a very strong soap wash prepared by dissolving any common laundry soap in water at the rate of one-half pound to one pound of soap to a gallon of water. Another method is to inject bisulphide of carbon into the nests, the quantity of the chemical depending upon the size of the nest. After the bisulphide of carbon has been injected, the entrance to the nest should be closed by the foot in order to retain the chemical, which will then penetrate slowly through the underground channel and kill the ants. Although its fumes are disagreeable, they are not poisonous to man and the higher animals.

FOREST NOTES

Coniferous timber has been found to be better suited than any other for the production of ethyl alcohol.

There are 592 consumers of tannin in the United States who use annually 625,000 cords of hemlock bark, 290,000 cords of oak bark, and 390,000 cords of chestnut wood.

Experts of the Forest Service estimate that the farm woodlots of the United States contain from 200 to 300 billion board feet of lumber and from one to one-and-a-half billion cords of wood.

All of the 28 counties of Utah contain portions of National Forests and consequently all share in the 25 per cent of the National Forest receipts which is paid over to the road and school funds. This is true of no other State.

Clever.

"Jimmy, what are the advantages of living in the temperate zone?" asked the teacher at the close of the geography lesson.

"None," answered Jimmy, bluntly. "Why, Jimmy?" expostulated the teacher. "You know we live in the temperate zone."

"Yes, I know," declared Jimmy. "An' it takes all father can earn to buy ice in summer an' coal in winter."

A few weeks later Jimmy was going into the third grade, having successfully passed the holiday examinations, and his parting with his beloved teacher was tearful.

"Oh, teacher!" he wailed, "I wish you know enough to teach the third grade, so you could come along an' teach me next year."

Jimmy is getting along well in these days.

Dixon Woman's Club

The Literary Department of the Dixon Woman's Club again had charge of the program at the meeting of the club at Miller Hall Saturday afternoon. America, sung in unison, and led by Mrs. Jacob Egler at the piano, marked the opening of the meeting, with a business session directly following, at which the rest room project was given detailed attention and plans were made for visiting the Household Economics Demonstration Car of the University of Illinois which is in Amboy all this week until Saturday.

In regard to the rest room plans were made for a mass meeting to be held in the near future at one of the larger of the Dixon halls—just which one has not been definitely decided. This meeting, it has been planned, will be addressed by people who have been engaged in the management of successful rest rooms, and will mark the real beginning of the rest room campaign here. The speakers will point out the successful to rest room which will be shown how the burdens of the upkeep may be equalized so that no one person or organization may feel an undue burden.

Dr. Grenfell's work in Labrador was made the topic of an excessively interesting paper prepared and read by Mrs. W. H. Coppins, who told of the unattractive, sombre, and barren country, the field of Dr. Grenfell's labors, in the introductory remarks. She told of the bleak and desolate interior, peopled by the Esquimaux and Indians. In the summer the population is augmented by the arrival of fisherfolk from Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, and even our own New England states. Mrs. Coppins told of the poverty and squalor in which these people lived, and of the lack of soul and body doctors, until Dr. Grenfell settled upon Labrador as the scene of his labors of love.

Willard Grenfell was a graduate of Oxford, and working among the London hospitals when he heard through Dwight L. Moody the call of Christian service. The slums of London for a time had the service of this adventuresome and persistent, merry and kind-hearted lover of humanity, until he felt the urgent need of the lonely and neglected along the shores of Labrador, where previous to his coming, only the mercenary cared for the sick. One case was instance of a father whose two children were very ill of diphtheria and needed the administration of anti-toxin, but who had but four dollars. This doctor, tending charged for the treatment of one, telling the father he must choose between the two children. The anti-toxin was given one, the other died.

Through the efforts of Dr. Grenfell, three missions have been established, one at St. Anthony, near the extreme north-east coast, one at Indian Harbor, and one at Indian Harbor, and in co-operation with these is the hospital steamer Strathcona, in which Dr. Grenfell visits every point of the 2,000-mile coast during the season at least once, and often twice. His visits are always welcomed and many are the cases in need of his administration, the insufficient dietary of the fisherfolk which among the poor is often restricted to flour and water in times of stress, causing much of the illness, especially a strange sort of paralysis, which manifests itself particularly among the children.

The child of his heart, the home for seamen, called King George the Fifth Seamen's Institute because of the great interest of Great Britain's emperor in this work in this bleak spot of his dominions, became a realization after ten years of securing for funds. The seafaring men of any nationality may find a harbor here. The building was opened in 1912 and is modern in every detail. Forty-three single and fifteen double rooms offer every comfort to the sailor, and well-cooked, nutritious food is served, twenty or thirty cents per night bringing to the sailor, not only this comfort, but the use of the swimming pool, bath, bowling alleys, billiards, etc. With all this care for the physical, the spiritual welfare is not overlooked and simple services are held in the assembly hall every Sunday.

At the conclusion of the paper, which left everyone so heartily in sympathy with Dr. Grenfell's work, the hostesses of the afternoon, Mesdames Hubbard, Reynolds, and Lister, served cream and wafers.

D. A. R. Meeting

Mrs. Clara Rowe was hostess Saturday at the regular monthly meeting of the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The roll call followed the major-ity of members in attendance. The usual business preceded a program of more than usual interest.

Eugene Cowles "Don't You Mind the Sorrows," sung by Miss Long Scott, in expressive and sweet tones, received a great deal of applause, which called forth a sweet melody as a encore. A paper on "The Mistresses of the White House," by Mrs. M. H. Vail followed.

The paper was an interesting portrayal of the wives of the presidents from Lincoln through Cleveland's administration. Mrs. Lincoln was described as a practical housewife, ever careful of her husband's interests, fond of flowers, and contrary to popular belief, not frivolous and society loving, beyond the demands of her high position. Mrs. Johnson, who followed Mrs. Lincoln, was a victim of tuberculosis and was obliged to abandon to others a large share of the duties assigned to the mistress of the White House. She was unselfish, true, and refined, and exerted a great deal of influence over her husband, whom she thoroughly believed in. Mrs. Grant was an able and strong woman, but both she and the president preferred to live quietly. Mrs. Grant busied herself in the morning with the duties of the housekeeper, and in the afternoon usually took a drive about Washington. The home life of the Haynes was very beautiful, with strict in its adherence to religion. Mrs. Hayes dared to depart from the usual custom of serving wine at the White House functions, but despite her rigidity in regard to temperance, was considerate and tender. The beauty and grace of Mrs. Cleveland were ably described, and her popularity with the high and low was remarked. Her presiding over the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary reception of the two old negro servants was instanced.

Mrs. Barlow had the current topic for the day, "The Training of Delinquent Children," taken from a pamphlet written by Miss Helmerhausen, formerly of Franklin Grove and now a teacher in the Chicago Schools. Explanations of popular terms in regard to the United States were also given.

Mrs. Rowe was assisted in the duties of hostess by Mrs. O. B. Anderson, Miss Anderson, and Miss Blanche Ripley. Very good refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.

ing many took off their hats and Wilson himself uncovered, but the wind was so raw he soon put his hat on. As the procession was returning to be reviewed a stiff breeze sprang up, almost amounting to a gale. The color bearers were unable to go ahead in the face of the wind and furled their flags. The sand on the avenue, dried by the sun, began flying in clouds and the hand men had to turn their instruments upside down to get the sand out of them so they could play.

WILSON SAYS HE HAS NOT POWER

Newlands, A. B. Fall.

"The following unsigned have phoned and pledged their co-operation: Thomas A. Martin, Hoke Smith, John Shafroth, Oscar Underwood, James McKelroy, Tramwell, of Florida; Norris, Kenyon."

Twelve Men Defeat 76.
Washington, Mar. 5.—Twelve senators, led by Senator La Follette and encouraged by Senator Stone, Democratic chairman of the foreign relations committee, in a filibuster denounced by President Wilson's spokesmen as the most reprehensible in the history of any civilized nation, defied the will of an overwhelming majority in congress up to the last minute and denied to the President a law authorizing him to arm American merchant ships to meet the German submarine menace.

Unyielding throughout twenty-six hours of continuous session to appeals that their defiance of the President would be humiliating to the country; uncompromising in a crisis described to them as the most serious to the nation since the civil war, La Follette and his small group of supporters refused a majority of their colleagues an opportunity to vote on the armed neutrality bill.

Bill Dies With Congress.

It died with the Sixty-fourth congress at noon.

To fix responsibility before the country, seventy-six senators, thirty Republicans and forty-six Democrats, signed a manifesto proclaiming to the world that they favored passage of the measure.

This declaration, embodied in the record of the senate, referred to the fact that the house on Thursday night had passed a similar bill by a vote of 403 to 13, and also recited that the senate gave a small minority opportunity to throttle the will of the majority.

Protest of Majority.

The text of the manifesto is as follows:

"The majority of United States senators favored the passage of the senate bill authorizing the President of the United States to arm American merchant vessels, a similar bill having already passed the house by a vote of 403 to 13. Under the rules of the senate allowing unlimited debate it appears to be impossible to obtain a vote previous to noon March 4, 1917, when this session of congress expires.

"We desire the statement entered on the record to establish the fact that the senate favored the legislation and would pass it if a vote could be obtained."

The Twelve.

The twelve senators, seven Republicans and five Democrats, who by their filibuster killed the armed neutrality bill, are: Clapp, Rep., of Minnesota; Cummins, Rep., of Iowa; Gronna, Rep., of North Dakota; Kenyon, Rep., of Iowa; Kirby, Dem., of Arkansas; La Follette, Rep., of Wisconsin; Lane, Dem., of Oregon; Norris, Rep., of Nebraska; O'Gorman, Dem., of New York; Stone, Dem., of Missouri; Vandaman, Dem., of Mississippi; Works, Rep., of California.

NOTES FROM NEW YORK ON THE STYLES.

YOU saw the flare, the swing, the bouffant lines of last Fall's coats and suits. That style, and even the spirit that inspired it, is gone forgotten by the smartly dressed woman

Spring has given her a fascinating new style—slender, youthful, simple in line yet subtle in its hints of the figure.

These long lines, these slender effects even for figures that are not naturally so, are works of art. We therefore take pleasure in calling your attention to our attractive showing of Wooltex Coats and Suits.

TO STIMULATE FARM PRODUCTION

At the moment no other factor in the national situation is more important than intelligent, precautionary measures to secure the largest possible acreage of land under cultivation, particularly in food crops, during next season.

Whether we are to have war or peace, the population must be fed and if, unfortunately, weather conditions should be unfavorable and the yield no better than last year's the food situation next winter will be so much worse than now that we may well take alarm while there is yet time to provide against the possibility.

The present crop year began with a large carry-over of all grains, but it will end without reserves, and the world will depend on the 1917 crop.

The beginning is not good. The Argentine wheat crop, now harvested, is so nearly a failure there will be little for export and the corn crop will not be much better. The Australian wheat crop, also harvested, is estimated at 139,392,000 bushels against 187,120,000 last year, but fortunately there is a carry over estimated at 80,000 bushels.

A semi-official report puts the condition of French winter wheat at 65 per cent against 74 last year, and states that owing to lack of fertilizer and want of proper preparation of soil, the yield will be below normal. The Holland crop is unpromising, and of England backward.

In the United States there has been a shortage of moisture in the principal winter wheat states. The plant is not known to be injured and there is yet time for moisture to come but if it was under a snow covering the outcome would be assured. A freeze has cut off the vegetable crop in the southern states, which would have relieved the situation.

There are unusual features in the situation that deserve attention. The high wages paid in the towns have drawn labor from the farms. The men come to town for winter work, and last spring they did not go back to the country, and are not likely to do so this spring, particularly if industry receives a new stimulus from entrance into the war.

The farmer's outlay for seed and all expenses is higher and while high prices for products are usually expected to stimulate larger production they may not do so this year. In ordinary times we can draw on foreign countries to make up for domestic shortage. We have frequently imported potatoes from Europe, and the effects of not being able to do so now are apparent.

It is just as important under present conditions to have reserves of food as of cartridges. When so much is dependent upon a good crop it is the part of prudence for the entire community to concern itself about the situation at the beginning of the season. There are certain common vegetables that make up much of the food supply, such as potatoes, beans, onions, etc., which do well in all parts of the country and can be grown in a small way without machinery, whose production this year in ample quantities should be assured. This garden production can be increased if a popular interest is awakened and systematic efforts are made to place idle town lots and nearby tracts at the disposal of people willing to work them.

The grain crops can also be materially increased if business interests are aroused to the fact that the country confronts an emergency. The time to deal with next winter's food riots, proposals for an embargo and other wild legislation, and next winter's demands for higher wages, is now.

It is a popular idea of late to have a "survey" made of any situation of public concern and it would be well if one were made this spring of crop prospects in agricultural counties of the country. The question of facilitating production comes down to the situation of each farmer; does he need anything required for work—seed, a horse, an implement, assistance or even advice—which a community organization might provide? There is much work, well enough at another time, which may be subordinated this year to the production of a big crop. The south should extend the policy of growing more foodstuffs. If chambers of commerce, bankers' associations and other organizations of business men will take the situation in hand in a formative way they can do more to safeguard the prosperity of the country than can be done by any other effort. With reserves exhausted and the world situation what it is, there is no danger of over-production, for the largest possible crop in this country is sure to bring remunerative prices. It must be remembered that if the war ends at any time before the 1918 crop is harvested, there will be a great demand from central Europe on the crop of 1917. From a bulletin issued by National City Bank, of New York.

Arming puny little merchant ships would hardly save the day, it seems to us. What congress needs to be called in special session for now that they have quit without acting, is to enact a universal military training law.

Spring hats in the milliners' windows, marbles and robins and strings of geese remind us that a certain very pleasant period of the year is near at hand.

A good way to fool the H. C. of L. is to prepare to have a garden this summer. Now is the time to be picking out your seeds and getting ready for spring gardening.

If we thought next year might be like this in regard to the price of potatoes, we'd plow up the front yard and plant spuds.

A light occupation is painting a house in the smoke zone. When we get through it's time to start over.

The senator from Wisconsin noded his way onto the front page again, anyhow.

Special reports from the Holston, Watauga, Big and Little Pigeon, Nolichucky, French, Broad, Powell, Clinch, Hiawatha and the Little Tennessee, show that those streams, together with the mighty Tennessee river are many feet above flood stage and still rising, steadily and rapidly.

Dr. Grayson soon after breakfast and works on his mail from noon to 1 o'clock. In the afternoon he has callers and signs official papers, except on Tuesdays and Fridays, when the cabinet meets. Ordinarily an hour on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons is set aside for the reception of members of congress.

After dinner, generally about 7 o'clock, the president does no work unless it is absolutely necessary. He either reads, plays billiards or goes to a theatre. Detective stories, poems and autobiographies are his favorite literature. It is more or less an open secret that his preference is for thrilling detective stories. Often he gathers his family about him and reads poems. Frequently he steals away to a gallery to view some paintings.

The president's insistence upon promptness contrasts with the more or less carefree habits of some of his predecessors. When the cabinet meets the president's advisers are frequently early, but are seldom late.

The president, now sixty years old, is very healthy, and his only weaknesses are of the stomach and eyes. Because of attacks of indigestion he is more or less on a diet most of the time, but is as regular in his meals as in all his other habits.

Society has no charm for Wilson. With a capital S he has a dislike for it. On more than one occasion his failure to hide his feeling has been noticeable. He avoids all social functions when possible.

As a breaker of precedents Wilson set official Washington agape even before he came into office by announcing that he did not desire the usual inaugural ball. He followed that by declining membership in some so-called exclusive clubs which always have claimed the membership of the presidents.

One of his first acts was to greatly decrease the number of army and navy officers assigned to the White House as aides, until less than a half dozen remained. Mr. Wilson abolished the motorcycle guard which used to surround the president's car when he went out on the streets, saying he wished to go about just as any other citizen.

When he began the custom of delivering his addresses to congress in person, he revives a custom which had died with Washington, and Adams. No president since Jefferson had addressed the congress personally, and no other president since Madison had addressed the senate separately on foreign affairs. As President Wilson did on his celebrated peace note. His fondness for directness of action has led to the shattering of many other precedents.

Often times when he wants to confer with a cabinet officer quickly he walks to his office. He goes to the bank in person to deposit his salary, and when he needs goods shopping like anyone else. If he wishes to confer with a senator and the senator is spending a quiet evening at home, the president goes to the senator's house. Precedent always has decreed that the senator must come at the call of the president.

Mr. Wilson uses the telephone very much on the theory that it shortens conversation and keeps the parties to the conversation on the subject intended.

Never has the president relaxed any of the customs which make for respect and honor for the high office but he has shattered many precedents in the interest of direct action.

BIG TRANSPORT SINKS, BERLIN

Huge Ship Larger Than Lusitania Reported Torpedoed.

BRITISH DESTROYER IS LOST

War Vessel Goes Down in North Sea. Presumably Is Hit by Mine—German Report Says Britain Lost Another Troopship in Mediterranean Sea.

London, Mar. 5.—A British destroyer was sunk with all hands in the North sea on Thursday, the admiralty announced. It is believed she struck a mine, the announcement states. 34,000-Ton Ship Sunk.

Berlin, Mar. 5.—An armed transport steamer of 34,494 tons, with about 500 colonial troops, artillery and horses on board, was sunk by a German submarine in the Mediterranean on Feb. 24, the admiralty announces. Some of the troops on board were lost.

A troop-laden transport of about 5,000 tons was sunk on Feb. 23, it also was announced.

A 9,000-ton transport under escort sent to the bottom on Feb. 17 south of Malta, while the sinking of thirteen other vessels of a total of more than 25,000 tons is recorded.

Statendam May Be Lost.

New York, Mar. 5.—The reported sinking of a vessel of 34,494 tons constitutes a record for the war, the largest vessel previously sunk being the Cunarder Lusitania of 30,396 tons.

The vessel that seems most nearly to answer the description of the "armed transport" of this size, said by Berlin to have been sent to the bottom, is the Statendam, which was building in England for the Holland-American line when the war broke out and was taken over by the British government.

Her tonnage is given in the latest marine records as approximately 35,000. She is reported to have been in use as a transport.

Of the steamers specifically named in the German list, the Oceania was on Feb. 21 reported sunk, the Corso on Feb. 22, the Skozland on Feb. 21 and the Proconissos on March 3.

The Italian steamer Prudenza, not previously reported, is given in the marine register as having left Buenos Aires Jan. 6 for Genoa and sailing from Dakar en route on Jan. 31.

Three Liners Escape Submarine.

New York, Mar. 5.—Two more steamships which defied the German submarines in the English channel arrived here. They were followed by the Taormina of the Italian line from Genoa, Italy.

The first to dock was the Ultonia of the Cunard line from London February 6. She carried no passengers. Captain Marshall, her commander, would not give the reason for the long delay. Sailors said they were held up by British admiralty orders.

The other vessel to arrive was the Calypso, a Dutch freight steamer, from London, in command of Captain Jongman.

Daylight Frustrates Yeggs.

EDINBURG, ILL., Mar. 5. Burning through the outer door of the vault at the Citizens' State bank at Edinburg yeggs were forced by daylight to abandon an attempt to rob the bank after the safe was burned into half way. An acetylene tank was used by the robbers.

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach troubles, others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside-bathing before breakfast.

Keys to All Baggage Rooms of Two Railroads Found.
